

How Should Christians Understand LGBTQIA+ and Pride Month?

Sixbert SANGWA • June 21, 2024

In today's society, the celebration of June as LGBTQIA+ Pride Month has become a prominent global event, marked by parades, rallies, and widespread support across various sectors. As Christians seeking to understand these developments in light of biblical prophecy and teachings, it is imperative to examine these trends with a humble and discerning heart.

The Bible is clear about the moral standards set by God. Homosexuality and other LGBTQIA+ practices are described as contrary to God's design. Leviticus 18:22 states, "You shall not lie with a male as with a woman; it is an abomination." Similarly, the New Testament reinforces this in Romans 1:26-27 : "For this reason God gave them up to dishonorable passions. For their women exchanged natural relations for those that are contrary to nature; and the men likewise gave up natural relations with women and were consumed with passion for one another."

The prophet Daniel foretold this time of great abominations, stating, "And on the wing of abominations shall come one who makes desolate, until the decreed end is poured out on the desolator" (Daniel 9:27). The increasing acceptance and promotion of lifestyles contrary to God's design can be seen as part of these "abominations" that prepare the way for the Antichrist, the ultimate embodiment of rebellion against God.

Jesus Christ, in His prophetic discourse, warned of the moral decline that would characterize the last days, saying, "And because lawlessness will be increased, the love of many will grow cold" (Matthew 24:12). The widespread endorsement of LGBT practices is indicative of a broader moral decay that aligns with the rebellious spirit foreseen in Scripture.

Just as John the Baptist was the forerunner who prepared the way for Jesus by proclaiming the coming of the Messiah (John 1:23), so too, the proliferation of moral abominations should be seen as preparing the way for the Antichrist. These developments serve as stark reminders that we are living in times of increasing spiritual warfare and moral confusion.

The apostle Paul also warned of this time when people would turn away from the truth, stating, "For the time is coming when people will not endure sound teaching, but having itching ears they will accumulate for themselves teachers to suit their own passions" (2 Timothy 4:3). The acceptance of practices contrary to biblical teaching is a clear sign of this prophecy being fulfilled.

In the book of Revelation, Babylon is described as a symbol of ultimate rebellion and wickedness, a "dwelling place for demons" (Revelation 18:2). The call to "Come out of her, my people, lest you take part in her sins, lest you share in her plagues" (Revelation 18:4) is a dire warning to all believers to separate themselves from practices that are against God's will.

Additionally, it is important to understand the broader societal context. Pride Month is intended to recognize and affirm the dignity, equality, and rights of LGBT individuals. From a Christian perspective, while we may disagree with the lifestyle choices, it is essential to approach this topic with love and compassion. The gospel message is clear: "For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved through him" (John 3:17). This love extends to all people, regardless of their lifestyle.

Ultimately, Christians are called to be witnesses of the Way, the Truth, and the Life (John 14:6; Acts 1:8). Our obligation is to offer truth to those who are interested, as Jesus commanded in the Great Commission: "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations" (Matthew 28:19). We cannot expect non-believers to conform to biblical expectations because "The natural person does not accept the things of the Spirit of God, for they are folly to him, and he is not able to understand them because they are spiritually discerned" (1 Corinthians 2:14).

Western culture has long embraced views on premarital sex, drug and alcohol use, morality, and other ideas that run counter to a biblical worldview. That a fallen world should continue to fall further is not surprising but expected, as Paul describes in Romans 1:24-31. Instead of scuffling to "resist" or "stop" things like Pride Month, Christians should remember what it means to be "in" a culture without being "of" that culture (John 17:11; 18:36).

In conclusion, the celebration of LGBT Pride Month can be seen as part of the larger pattern of rebellion against God's design, heralding the approaching end times and the rise of the Antichrist. Let us heed the call to come out of Babylon, to stand apart from worldly abominations, and to steadfastly proclaim the good news of Jesus Christ in these challenging times.

Urgent Call to Come Out of Babylon

The urgency of this call cannot be overstated. Babylon is falling, and those who remain within it risk sharing in its impending judgment. "Come out of her, my people, lest you take part in her sins, lest you share in her plagues" (Revelation 18:4). The time to separate ourselves from the moral decay of this world is now. Let us remain vigilant, prayerful, and committed to living out our faith in truth and love, as we navigate these tumultuous times. May we always be guided by the words of 1 Peter 5:8-9: "Be sober-minded; be watchful. Your adversary the devil prowls around like a roaring lion, seeking someone to devour. Resist him, firm in your faith." Let us uphold the truth of God's Word, extend grace to those around us, and steadfastly proclaim the gospel of Jesus Christ. The end is near, and the time for decisive action is now. Come out of Babylon, and stand firm in your faith.
